WOULD INCREASE TAX

Recommendation of Good Roads Association For Improvement of State Highways—R. Stuart Royer Chosen Delegate From Eighth District.

The convention of the Virginia Good Roads Association held its opening meeting in Murphy's hotel Auditorium with from four-hundred to five hundred delegates in attendance from all sections of Virginia. Among those present was R. Stuart Royer, business manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

Wade H. Massie, president of the association presided. Motor parcel post routes were discussed by James I. Blakslee, Fourth Assistant Postmaster General, who pointed out the great possibilities of development of parcel post motor transportation, which has already proved a great success in sections where it is already in operation.

Governor Davis spoke on "Future Highway improvement in Virginia's and received an ovation when he proposed to raise $25,000,000 for the immediate construction of twelve-hundred miles of good roads in the highway system by levying a special tax of one mill and increasing the automobile tax 50 per cent. Governor Davis declared that at the rate we were going it would take sixty-five years, and cost in original construction $75,000,000 to carry out the state highway program adopted by the General Assembly of 1918. He showed how under his suggestion plan of taxation, $39,000,000 could be made available for construction and maintenance during the period 1920-28 whereas under the present plan the state has only $2,150,000 for roads, of which $1,180,000 only is available for new work.

Commissioner Coleman spoke on "Ways and Means for the construction of the State Highway System." He pointed out the necessity of drafting uniform traffic regulations, and stated his opinion that the fast moving motor trucks would soon destroy not only the light but the heavy surfaced roads.

He further declared that in order to meet the necessities required by the Federal appropriation acts and to provide funs for resurfacing and reconstructing roads which are rapidly going to pieces, we must have a special road tax of not less than one and one-half mills, or fifteen cents on the dollar the tax to apply to all properties subject to State tax. He further suggested that Section 184 of the Constitution relative to issuing bonds, be brought to the attention of the people so that the preliminary steps could be taken in order that bonds could be issued at the end of four years, if at that time a bond issue should be deemed advisable.

Dr. R. B. Allport of the Richmond Automobile Club, explained the attitude of the automobile owners toward highway improvements in Virginia.

He declared that 80,000 automobile owners in Virginia would be glad to pay a reasonable or even an unreasonable tax if they could get some returns for their money, but were getting tired of being taxed and receiving little or no benefits.

Wednesday morning Second Auditor Rosewell Page discussed the question of a state bond issue for the construction of a highway system. Mr. Page intimated knowledge of the financial affairs of the state made his address an exceedingly interesting and instructive one.

Wednesday afternoon W. S. Fallis Chief Engineer of the N. C. State Highway Commission spoke on "Proper Regulations for the use of Improved Highways". He told of the changes in kinds of traffic developed in the past few years.

He declared that every wheel should pay a license tax, gradated according to its destructive effects on the road. Every wagon, buggy and cart should pay according to the width of the tire and load capacity. The width of the tire the less the less the tax. He stated that the license tax on automobiles should be gradated according to horsepower as this generally related both to capacity and speed. Laws should be passed regulating both load and speed and exceptionally heavy trucks should be kept off of all roads except those especially built to accommodate them. Principal highways should be patroled to compel observance of laws by speeds and road hogs, Dr. T. H. D. Griffith, Assistant Epidermologist of the U. S. Public Health Service delivered an address on "Health and Good Roads" and showed the relation of the one to the other.

Jesse M. Jones of the State Department of Agriculture told of the Rural Motor Express. He declared it was not coming to Virginia, it had already come. He told how trucks operated at a fixed charge, had met with success and now in many sections of the State, were carring the farmer's products to the city and returning with merchandise.

He declared that the trucks brought the market to every man's door and made every man's door a shopping point of greater value to him than a railroad switch. The only obstacle in the way of the growth of its motor truck express was the bad condition of the roads.

D. B. Ryland, Manager Lynchburg Chamber of Commerce, made one of the strongest addresses made before the convention, on "Should the State Tax for Construction of Highway System be Increased?" He pointed out how far behind Virginia was in Road Construction compared to the various other states, and discussed the great benefits Virginia would derive from the improvement of its system of roads.

Thursday morning P. St. John Wilson, Chief Engineer of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads was represented by E. W. James, who gave a very thoughtful address on "Methods and Cost of Construction to withstand modern traffic."

The afternoon session was given up to business and election of officers. The following resolutions were adopted:

"Recommending, in lieu of present taxes, a levy of one and a half mills levy be laid on all property subject to State tax and an increase in the automobile tax of twenty cents (20) per ratio horsepower, both to be used exclusively in the construction and maintenance of the State highway system.

Favoring the enactment of a law special freight rates for materials for road construction and maintenance.

WORK OF MOB IN BERLIN

Red Rosa's Body Torn to Pieces—Liebknecht Also Killed—Remains of Woman Thrown Into Canal—Wave of Terrorism in German Capital.

Berlin, Jan. 18.—The frail body of Rose Luxemburg, horribly mutilated by the marks of a lynching mob, floats somewhere in the murky waters of the Landwehr Canal. The corpse of her soul mate, master and comrade in terrorist warfare, Dr. Carl Liebknecht, lies at some obscure morgue in darkest Berlin, heavily guarded by government troops for the wrath of the mob is as yet unstilled.

The murder of these two leaders is not to be credited for the government's account; they were the victims of lynch law, of the fury of mobs who saw in them the deliberate and wanton destructors of what is left of the wreck of the empire. But the unreasoning masses will blame the government, nevertheless.

The aggravating circumstance is that both were in the custody of government squads, and both on the way to prison when mobs snatched them from the midst of the heavy guards and took the law into their hands.

After sensational escapes which for a time wiped out traces—Liebknecht had fled over a dozen roofs—the two rejoined yesterday at the home of Siegfried Marcusson, at 43 Mannheimer street. A telephone conversation had "tipped" the government as to their rendezvous.

"Auf wiedersehen at Marcusson's," was the message heard by the wire tappers.

Rosa managed to escape from Marcusson's home when the troops arrived to arrest her and Liebknecht. But her flight ended at the Hotel Eden, were a fate so brutal and bloody as to recall the killing of "witches" in the middle ages overtook her.

"Die Rote Rosa" was the cry that spread like wildfire through the streets of western Berlin, bringing a mob of thousands to the hostelry where the woman tried to hide. Government soldiers with drawn revolvers placed her under arrest. As they appeared on the threshold a thousand arms reached out and within a few seconds she was the prey of a multitude of men and women become beasts.

Shots were fired at her, canes, clubs, hatpins, fingernails and even women's teeth were used in the orgy of madness. She was literally beaten to death. Blood streamed from scores of wounds, but it was hardly distinguishable from the brilliant crimson of her blouse.

Death did not satisfy the lynchers A couple of men threw her body into a machine and whizzed her off. They didn't get beyond a block. The street was thick with people and they threw themselves into the automobile's path some to have a morbid look at "Red Rosa," but most of them to do further violence to the corpse.

Men and women reached into the car and kept on dealing smashing blows to the dead woman, already mutilated beyond recognition. Unmercifully they kept up their barbarous work. A hoodlum jumped on the sideboard, climbed on top of the machine and fired revolver shots into the body. Then they dragged it out of the car and threw it into the Landwehr Canal.

Meanwhile Liebknecht was meeting a similar end, but far less gruesome. Unlike his frail, deformed woman lieutenant who never once denied her identity or her cause, the powerfully built former soldier tried to the last to masquerade. At Marcusson's house he told the troops he was not the man they were seeking. This failed to save him. Unmistakable marks of recognition were identified and he was carried off toward Moabit prison in a machine. In the zoological gardens the automobile broke down. The party got out to wait for another car. Here Liebknecht saw his last chance. He started to run. For this the soldiers guarding him had been waiting. Half a dozen revolvers were fired simultaneously. Three bullets struck him, one resulting in instant death.

REDS FIRE ON TROOPS

More Shooting and Grenade Throwing in Berlin Resentment Over Killing of Karl Liebknecht and Rosa Luxemburg.

Berlin, Jan. 18.—At 10 o'clock Thursday night there was shooting and grenade throwing Unter den Linden. Spartacides fired on government troops.

Twenty thousand troops from the West front were pouring into the "home front" to protect the election arrangements. A political machinery for the national assembly elections has been built by mixing the French and American systems of voting.

A wave of indignation, deep and hateful, is sweeping hundreds of thousands of workmen in Germany because of the murders of Dr. Karl Liebknecht and Rosa Luxemburg.

The Ebert government regards the murders as a catastrophe, and it is believed certain that bloody events will be the sequel, according to direct advices from the capital. A general strike is expected to be proclaimed in Berlin.

It is now doubtful if the elections can take place Sunday as scheduled because of the tremendous excitement over the murders which the government is accused of having caused.

Indeed, it is feared the coming days in Berlin will be even more sanguinary than anything that has happened since the revolution. Several other Spartacus leaders were arrested Thursday.

The German workmen looked upon Liebknecht as a demigod. Now he is, in their eyes, a martyr to the cause of the proletariat. Many additional workmen are joining the Spartican ranks. Thousands are parading the streets crying for vengeance.

PADERWSKI FORMS CABINET

Reaches an Agreement With General Pilsudski.

Warsaw, Jan. 18.—Ignace Jan Paderewski, having reached an agreement with General Pilsudski, has succeeded partly in forming a new Polish cabinet. General Pilsudski will be Foreign Minister under M Paderewski as Premier, which will permit Pilsudski to retain much of his power.

RUSSIAN DOG SAVES YANKS

A white "husky" dog, apparently the mascot of a Bolshevist regiment, recently saved an American company from an ambush in the bushwhacking war near Kadish.

The Americans had a large rear-guard outpost a mile behind the town and the Bolshevists, heavily reinforced and with considerable artillery, began shelling the American positions. The Americans successfully repulsed all attacks and were keenly watching the swamps bordering the road in their rear.

One afternoon a sentinel of the rear guard, who had participated in previous engagements, during which a white "husky" dog appeared with the Bolshevist forces, saw the dog in the woods.

His warning, followed by a bit of scouting led to the discovery that the Bolshevists were moving through the swamps to cut off the Americans in the rear at the Petrograd road. The troops were able to withdraw in the darkness to the positions behind a bridge over the Emtsa river.

GRAND THEATRE

"Lost in Transit," George Beban's newest Paramount picture which will be shown at The Grand on Monday was written for him by the talented actress-authoress, Kathlyn Williams and contains a number of unusual incidents. The cast is exceptionally strong, and includes Helen Eddy who has worked as Mr. Beban's leading lady for most of his photoplays, and little "Bob White," who is just two and a half years old and has already appeared in two big productions, giving every indication of following his father's footsteps.

The third episode of "The Iron Test" also will be seen at the Grand on Monday.

NEW TELEPHONE RATES

Schedule Becomes Operative Tuesday—All Toll Rates Throughout the United States Will Then be on a Uniform Basis.

Arrangements are being made by Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company to put into effect at 12:01 A. M., January 21, 1919, the new schedule of rates for toll calls which was announced December 13, 1918, by the Postmaster General, and under which all toll rates throughout the United States are placed on a uniform basis.

Under the new schedule a "station to station" rate is the basis upon which all rates for the various classes of service are computed. This rate applies where a toll call is made from one telephone to another without specifying that a particular person is desired. The rate is determined by the air line distance between toll points and is computed for the initial talking period on the basis of 5 cents for each 6 miles up to 24 miles, and 5 cents for each 8 miles beyond that distance.

In addition to the "station to station" rate, a "person to person" rate, an "appointment" rate a "messenger call" rate and a "report charge" are quoted for calls to points on which the "station to station" rate is 15 cents or more.

The "person to person" rate, for calls where a particular person is specified, is about one-fourth greater than the "station to station" rate. The "appointment" rate is about one-half greater than the "station to station" rate. The "messenger call" rate is the same as the appointment rate, plus any necessary charges for messenger service. The "report charge" is about one-fourth of the "station to station" rate and is made in connection with all toll calls other than those made on a sent to "station to station" basis where the connection is established but conversation is not held because the calling or called party is not present, will not talk, or has no telephone.

The minimum "person to person" rate is 20 cents, the minimum "appointment" rate 25 cents and the minimum "messenger call" rate 25 cents. The minimum "report charge" is 10 cents and the maximum $2.00.

New evening and night rates applying only to calls made on a "station to station" basis are also quoted. For toll calls made between 8:30 P. M., and midnight on a "station to station" basis, the rate is about one-half the "station to station" day rate, and for calls made between midnight and 4:30 A. M., the rate is one-fourth the "station to station" day rate.

For the purpose of applying night rates the time of day at which the "station to station" call originates is used. The minimum night rate is 25 cents and day rates apply on "station to station" calls made at night when the day rate is less than this minimum. Day rates also supply on all toll calls made at night on other than a "station to station" basis.

The company points out that where telehone directory information is available, subscribers calling should specify the telephone call number desired in making "station to station" toll calls. Where directory information is not available at the calling telephone, such "station to station" calls will be accepted if the name and address of the called subscriber is given.

ROBERT E. LEE

Tomorrow, Sunday, January 19, will be the anniversary of the birth of Robert E. Lee, an occasion during the past thirty years celebrated by R. E. Lee Camp of Confederate Veterans, of this city, and by other camps throughout the southern country, as well as similar organizations in Washington, New York and northern and western cities. In Alexandria the survivors of the late Southern Confederacy paraded in the afternoon and gathered in front of the Confederate Monument at Prince and Washington streets where appropriate services were held. These occasions always brought large assemblages to that place, where orations were delivered and musical exercises participated in. Later the cortege moved to Christ Church yard, where the remains of ex-Confederaes rest and a salute was fired over their mounds. The occasion closed with a reunion and banquet in Lee Camp Hall at night where addresses were delivered often by some of the most prominent men in the country.

The banquet feature will be omitted this year; there will be no annual reunion of the wearers of the grey. Confederate Veterans' Hall is now being used by the Red Cross, but this does not mean that there will in future be no more reunions of the survivors of the Confederacy. Some still live and move among us who followed Robert E. Lee during the four years civil war, and when the world shall have again resumed normal conditions we may look for other gatherings of the wearers of the grey on January 19.

"Robert E. Lee" has been the theme of many spirited addresses during the past half a century. Unlike military leaders who have fought in an unrighteous cause, this great commander and Christian gentleman posed more nobly in defeat than in success. He was not forced to hie himself away to a retreat in a neutral country after the collapse of the cause for which he fought, but was compelled to seek a retreat in his native state far from the curious crowd who desired to honor him. He accepted a position in one of Virginia's greatest institutions of learning and passed the few remaining years of his life teaching the new generation which had sprung up during the life of the Southern Confederacy.

While the most interesting features of the nineteenth of January will be omitted this year, but few persons in the country, especially in the South, will be oblivious of the fact that it marks the anniversary of the birth of a man who was not only an honor to Old Virginia, but of whom both sections of the country are justly proud.

REFUSE TO WORK

Three white men, apparently able-bodied and in the meridian of life, were arrested yesterday on the charge of habitual drunkenness. One of the trio was also charged with petit larceny. He refused to tell where certain missing property was located, and he was committed to jail for ten days His companions were sentenced to serve ten days for idleness and drunkenness.

A prominent merchant of Alexandria early this morning complained to a representative of the Gazette of labor conditions in this city at present. He said he was sorely in need of men for work in his line, and although he offered many idlers, both white and colored, fifty cents an hour for their services, they all with one accord made excuses and preferred to continue in the occupation of killing time.

During the past ten years or more people conducting business on Union street and the Strand have complained of the scarcity of labor. Numbers of idle men stand on corners sunning themselves and refusing to work at any price. Appeals were made to the Chamber of Commerce for relief from such conditions and the chamber put the issue up to the authorities.

The law concerning idleness is clear, and it may be of interest to those who while away their existence to learn that vagrants can be made to serve terms upon the state roads, where they will receive no pay envelopes, when they decline employment tendered them at high wages.

It may be stated in this connection that handbills were posted today announcing that two hundred men are wanted immediately in the work of preparing the site for the torpedo assembling plant in this city.

WILL THERE BE MORE WAR?

Peace not having been effected yet Marshal Foch imposes some additional conditions upon Germany, in the event of whose refusal we may suppose that hostilities will be resumed. We do not anticipate the refusal, though the Central News Agency of London offers the statement "on authority of an unimpeachable character" that conditions in Europe are such that war may break out again at any moment.

As an exchange says, this sounds ominous, but it is impossible to weigh its value when we do not know whether the "authority" is really of "an unimpeachable character." We can hardly imagine that Germany, with most of its army demobilized, and much of its army war material and most of its navy surrendered, is in a condition to reopen hostilities at any moment,

A computation in the New York Times Current History, which has the support of many probabilities, says that when hostilities ceased Germany had 3,000,000 bayonets on the western front, and Marshal Foch had close to 6,000,000 combat troops under his command on the same front. Since then, with the breakdown of the German military establishment, the reduction of the German army must have been far greater than that of the Allied armies. A dispatch of a day or two ago said the German army numbered 1,250,000 men of uncertain morale. It is pretty safe to say that they are not eager to resume fighting. Foch's armies can hardly have been reduced more than 1,000,000, so that the present disparity in men, together with the disparity in material, can scarcely dispose Germany to start a new war. The morale of the people has been pretty well undermined by the dissemination of the German evidence that Germany was not attacked in 1914, but that the Kaiser started out on a career of conquest.

The Allied War Council may have alarming information, the British soldeirs have to stay with the colors a few months longer, but we cannot regard the renewal of the war as possible.

THE KAISER'S BOASTS

When the German fleet ingloriously and cowardly, like whipped curs, surrendered without a fight, some one should have read to the assembled crews the address by their vainglorious Kaiser, when, after the battle of Jutland, he said to delegations from the German fleet:

"The superior British armada approached, and our fleet engaged it, and what happened? The British fleet was beaten. The first great hammer blow was struck, and the nimbus of British world supremacy had disappeared. Like an electric spark the news rushed through the world and caused unprecedented jubilation everywhere where German hearts beat, and also among our brave allies. That is the success of the battle of the North Sea.

"A new chapter in the history of the world has been opened by you. The German fleet has been able to defeat a superior English fleet. God Almighty has steeled your arms and kept your eyes clear, but I am standing here today as your Supreme War Lord, and I thank you from the bottom of my heart. I am standing here as the representative and in the name of the Fatherland, to express to you its thanks, and in the name of my army to bring you the greetings of the sister service. Every one of you has done his duty, at the gun, at the boiler, in the wireless, but everyone thought of the same thing. Nobody thought of himself. Only one thought filled the whole fleet, namely, we must succeed. The enemy must be beaten.' Thus I express to leaders, officers and crews my fullest appreciation and thanks.

"In these days, when the enemy before Verdun is slowly beginning to collapse, when our allies have driven the Italians from mountain to mountain, and are still driving them back, you have accomplished this beautiful and grand deed. The world was prepared for anything, but never for the victory of the German fleet over the British. A start has been made. Fear will creep into the bones of the enemy."

In the words of the Manufacturers' Record, "what a mighty fall! That fleet, defeated at Jutland, despite German lies to the contrary, never dared risk another battle, and now is regarded as the greatest example in human history of cowardice of the lowest and most contemptible kind.

Vengeance is mine, saith the Lord, and surely God has spared not His vengeance upon the accursed nation of murderers who dared to claim Him as their partner in crime"

BUENOS AIRES TOO RICH

Showy Millionaires and Unjust Taxation Make Argentina Field Ripe for Bolsheviki

Buenos Aires claims more millionaires in proportion to its population than any other metropolitan city. That is one reason why the Bolsheviki have picked Buenos Aires as one of the points of attack in their attempt at a world industrial revolution.

Buenos Aires' wealthy live in wonderful showy mansions on magnificent boulevards. The Buenos Aires Jockey Club has an income of millions and one of the finest tracks in the world.

Buenos Aires has a theatre which rivals in cost and ornateness any in Europe. There are thousands of motor cars, luxurious clubhouses and elegantly clad women.

To be sure, there is for those who have no motorcars the most wonderful subway in the world. And there are beautiful parks (97 of them) and public buildings which belong to all the people. There are 34 public markets.

But the wealthy of Buenos Aires, the natives who live in the mansions on the fine avenues, or the immigrants of a generation ago, have come to wealth's estate through a lax Government land systm, which enabled them to acquire thousands of acres at as low as 3 1-2 cents an acre. Then came the flood of immigration, which doubled the population of Argentina twice in 20 years, and land came to a value a thousand times greater than the purchase price.

And these vast estates are almost free from taxes, while the poor workman or the holder of a small farm is taxed to the last cent.

Moreover, these landed millionaires have been content to see foreign capital develop their railroads, the harbors and docks, their big industries, and take out of the country millions of dollars in dividends.

The population of Buenos Aires is half foreign born. One-fifth of its population is Italian. Its European immigrants have come here seeking New World opportunity and found greater concentration of wealth than they ever had dreamed.

This is the soil on which European radicals are sowing the seed of discontant and revolution.

OLD BATTLESHIPS RETIRED

Iowa, Indiana and Massachusetts Now Training Craft.

Philadelphia, Jan. 18.—Having done their share in making naval history, the old battleships Iowa, Indiana and Massachusetts are on their way to Norfolk today to become training ships. These old bulldogs, the pride of the navy a score or more years ago, will be used to train engineers and firemen and also to take training crew to Southern waters. Later, it is said, they will go to the Panama canal.

All three ships saw service in the Spanish-American war and for years afterward were in reserve at the Philadelphia Navy Yard, with only skeleton crews. At the outbreak of the world war they were again brought into active service.

PRISON TERMS FOR I. W. W.

Setences Imposed on 43 of the 46 Defendants

Sacramento, Cal., Jan. 18.—Sentences ranging from one to ten years imprisonment were imposed yesterday by United States District Judge F. H. Rudkin, of Spokane, Wash., on 43 of the 46 defendants convicted in the Industrial Workers of the World anti-war conspiracy case.

Sentence on Miss Theodora Pollok, Basile Saffores and A. L. Fax, the only three defendants represented by an attorney, was held up by their counsel, who said a motion for a new trial would be offered.

The sentences came as a climax to a morning of oratory in which a large number of the 43 defendants, who had maintained silence throughout the trial, made impassioned addresses to the court.

STATES VOTING DRY

Minnesota and Wisconsin in Line—Enforcement Statute Draft by League

Chicago, Jan. 18.—The National prohibition amendment was ratified by two more states yesterday bringing up the total to forty.

Minnesota ratified the amendment when the house adopted the joint resolution. The senate acted Thursday.

The legislature of Wisconsin completed ratification of the amendment when the house voted 58 to 39 in its favor. The senate ratified the amendment last Wednesday.

The amendment was ratified by the house of the New Mexico legislature today, but action in the senate was deferred while the measure was referred to committee.

The twenty-five prohibition and anti saloon league organizations have agreed on a "bone dry" federal act to be presented to congress, according to a bulletin issued from National Anti Saloon League headquarters.

Tentatively it includes the following provisions:

Appointment of Federal commissioners to enforce the act, with power to prescribe rules and regulations for the manufacture and distribution of wine for sacramental purposes and alcohol for nonprohibitive purposes.

Fixing of adequate penalties for violation of the act.

The importation, exportation and possession of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes to be prohibited.

All intoxicating liquors illegally possessed and all implements used in their illegal manufacture to be contraband.

An adequate search and seizure provision.

The sale of alcoholic patent or proprietary mediums capable of being used as beverage to be surrounded by the same safeguards as the sale of alcohol.

Such other provisions as will "destroy every vestige of the beverage liquor traffic throughout the United States and its possessions."

"HOT-WATER STRIKE" WINS

Apartment House Tenants Now Elect Their Own Janitor

New York, Jan. 18.—The "strike" called by 35 families occupying an apartment house on the upper East Side, who were evicted Wednesday after they had refused for several months to pay their rent until hot water was forthcoming, has been settled.

At a conference between landlords and tenants the back rent was paid and a formal agreement signed, setting forth that hot water should be supplied "all day every day" and that the tenants might appoint their own janitor. This office went to one of their own number, with a recall provision in case his work should prove unsatisfactory.

STEAL BOX OF OINTMENT

Camden Citizen Probably Fatally Wounded by Trio of Bandits

A box of corn salve was the sum total of a haul made by three highwaymen in Camden, N. J., last night after they had shot and perhaps fatally wounded Andrew Brinning shortly after 10 o'clock.

Brinning was on his way home when three men, two wearing light overcoats, jumped from a doorway. One of them thrust a revolver in Brinning's face and demanded his valuables. Brinning thought it was a joke and pushed the revolver away. The revolver was discharged, the bullet piercing Brinning's right ear, and lodging in his head.

A policeman, attracted by the shot, found Brinning just able to give the above details before he became unconscious. The highwaymen escaped after depriving Brinning of his only personal possession at the time—the box of corn salve.

DIES AT WIFE'S FEET

Former State Treasurer of Delaware Kills Self in His Home

Laurel, Del., Jan. 18.—Firing a bullet into his brain, Former State Treasurer Charles A. Hustings killed himself in his home, Thursday afternoon. He was 60 years old, one of the leading business men of the State and for many years recognized Democratic leader of lower Delaware. Mr. Hastings was secretary and treasurer of five manufacturing concerns and a director in others here, also director of the Sussex Trust Company and a trustee and liberal contributor of Christ M. P. Church. He was a member of the Masons, Odd Fellows, Red Men and United Workmen. He was noted for his philanthropy.

He was secretary of the State Senate in 1895, and was elected State Treasurer in 1912. About five years ago he had a nervous breakdown and has since been a sufferer from neuritis and insomnia His closest friends have endeavored to get him to retire from business, but he would only reply: "I can't; were I to stop work I would go wild." Despondency over continued illness is assigned for his suicide.

Mrs. Hastings, hearing her husband walking in the hall, went to him and, noticing the pistol, asked what he was doing with it. His only response was to place the pistol to his head, fire and fall dead at her feet.

Besides the Colonial Theater, the old Evening Capital Building was destroyed. The Masonic Temple was badly damaged. The total loss was estimated at $100,000, about one-third covered by insurance.

VIRGINIA NEWS

Elisha D. Kincheloe, veteran of the civil war and a member of the state legislature of Virginia, died at his home near Delaplane, Thursday. Mr. Kincheloe was formerly a judge of the Municipal Court of the District of Columbia. He had resided here for more than twenty years. Born in Fauquier county, eighty-two gears ago, he was educated at the Virginia Military Institute.

The freight steamers Keresaspa and Minnesota, both bringing troops back from France, are several days overdue at Newport News. Nothing has been heard from either of them since last week. The Keresaspa has four officers and men aboard and the Minnesota six officers and several men. Whether the ships encountered rough weather is not known.

The two captains and five lieutenants of the cadet corps of the Shenandoah Valley Military Academy, who were arrested on a charge of hazing Cadet Robert E. Buncutter, a "rat," or first-year man, for an alleged breach of the cadet rules, were found guilty Thursday of a technical charge of disorderly conduct and fined $10 and costs each.

Democratic candidates to succeed Carter Glass, former member of Congress for the Sixth district of Virginia centered their activties yesterday at Roanoke on the eve of the Democratic primary. James P. Woods and John M. Hart, of Roanoke, and John Thompson Brown, of Bedford county, are the only candidates in the field.

THE RIGHT OF SEARCH

New York Magistrate Says Wife has Right to go Through Husband's Pockets

New York, Jan. 18.—A wife has the right to go through her husband's pockets during his sleep, especially when he is drinking, ruled Magistrate Groehl this week. Joseph Corway was brought before the Court on a charge of disorderly conduct preferred by his wife.

Corway told the Court his wife had stolen $16 while he slept. Mrs. Corway complained that her husband had just returned from a 30-day term at Blackwell's Island for disorderly behaviour, and that he at once started to abuse her.

"I don't agree with you," said Magistrate Groehl, after Corway had declared "a woman has no right to do that."

"A woman has the right to go through her husband's pockets, especially when her husband has been intimate with alcohol.

"Prohibition goes into effect on July 1," the court added. "You are on probation until July 2. It's fellows like you that spoil it for the decent fellows. It's such as you that caured national prohibition."

NEWS OF THE DAY.

John Barleycorn was the "correspondent" in eighty-six of the suits which have been heard in the divorce court, now in session in Worchester, Mass. The number of caess to be held in this sitting is the largest in the history of the city.

Representatives of the press shall be admitted to the meetings of the full Peace Conference, but upon necessary occasions the deliberations of the conference may he held in camera." This ruling was adopted by the conference of the powers at the Quai d'Orsay yesterday. The ruling means an important victory for publicity and open diplomacy, but the surrender of secrecy it not unconditional.

Bottles of champagne as Sunday School prizes are a regular thing in parts of France, James Martin Miller, of New York, former United States Conul at Rheims, who is in Washington on a visit, declared last night. Mr. Miller tells the story of his 11 year old daughter proudly bringing home a quart of champagne as an award for reciting the Golden Text correctly.

The National Labor Congress got down to business in Chicago yesterday despite frantic attempts on the part of Bolshevik delegates to switch discussion from Tom Mooney to the release of war prisoners, reorganization of the American Federation of Labor, and the question of a new era for the working man. A majority of the 1,500 delegates representing trades unions in all parts of the United States insisted that the Mooney case be disposed of, arguing that the congress had been called for the the purpose of dicussing ways and means for the California labor leader's release, and that time was growing short. The "Reds" finally subsided.

With Belgium and Serbia, the two martyred kingdoms of the war, at last allowed three delegates each, the first session of the Peace Conference which was formally opened this morning by President Poincaire, of the French Foreign Ministry, at Quai d'Orsay, Paris. After his address of welcome he called upon President Wilson to preside.

The German armistice has been extended one month by the commissioners, who have concluded their session at Treves. The clauses offered by the allies concerning agricultural implements, Russian prisoners of war, naval conditions and the resultution of material stolen by the Germans from invaded countries were signed by the enemy delegates.

The little "Baptist meeting house" at Merriman, Texas, values the dead in its burial ground at more than $1,000,000. Directors of this country church told oil operators they could sink a well in the church's graveyard provided the signatures of those buried there can be obtained. The oil men were reported to have made an offer of a huge cash bonus and royalties amounting in all close to $1,000,000. The church already draws $100,000 yearly royalty from another well in the churchyard.

A Splendid Tonic

Says Hixon Lady Who, On Doctor's Advice, Took Cardui And Is Now Well.

Hixson, Tenn., —"About 10 years ago I was," says Mrs. J. B. Gadd, of this place, "I sufferd with a pain in my left side, could not sleep at night with this pain, always in the left side.

My doctor told me to use Cardui. I took one bottle, which helped me and after my baby came, I was stronger and better, but the pain was still

I at first let it go, but began to get weak and in a run-down condition, so I decided to try som more Cardui, which I did.

This last Cardui which I took made me much better, in fact, cured me. I have no return of this trouble.

I feel it was Cardui that cured me, and I recommended it as a splendid female tonic."

Don't allow yourself to become weak and run-down from womanly troubles. Take Cardui. It should surely help you, as it has many thousands of other women in the past 40 years. Headache, backache, sideache, nervousness, sleeplessness, tired-out feeling, are all signs of womanly trouble. Other women get relief by taking Cardui. Why not you? All druggists.

If it keeps on aching, trouble may come.

This Alexandria citizen will show you how to go to the rescue.

Mrs. A. Waring, 304 N. Patrick St., says: "I suffered awfully from backache and inflammation of the bladder. I used to be in such misery during these attacks I had to have injections of morphine to relieve the pain. The pains in the top and back of my head nearly drove me frantic. I often got so dizzy I could hardly keep from falling. Nothing did me any good until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at E. S. Leadbeater & Son's Drug Store. Several boxes stopped that awful pain in my back and head and made my kidneys normal."
